

Ece on Şövalye
Şövalye, the Gulf of Fethiye, Turkey

Şövalye is an entirely pedestrianised island, just ten minutes across the water from the port of Fethiye. It is a gentle, sleepy place, with shady walkways through pine-scented forests – the perfect place for an island retreat.

Ece on Şövalye enjoys the most spectacular position on the water's edge, with every one of its spacious rooms providing wonderful sea views.

Ten minutes across the water from the port of Fethiye lies the sleepy island of Şövalye and on it, our perfect island retreat: a select boutique hotel, boasting 12 spacious rooms, a small swimming pool, gardens and a private beach club. Şövalye is an entirely pedestrianised island with shady walkways through scented pine forests (see online for a detailed description). Ece on Şövalye enjoys the most spectacular position on the water's edge, with every room and viewpoint providing the most stunning sea views.

The hotel is owned by the lovely Handan and her charming husband Erdogan, and the property is named after their daughter, Ece. Peace and quiet reign supreme. Away from the water, the only noticeable noise comes from the island's wildlife – birds in their hundreds, and a non-stop cacophony of cicadas. Just as the peacefulness of Şövalye makes it a favourite retreat for writers, so the quality of light has a special lure for artists: sharp; clear and shimmering.

The 11 spacious rooms (and one two-bedroom suite) are divided between two buildings and each open-plan room has a double or twin bed, a sitting area, fabulous picture windows to maximize the view, and a large balcony or terrace with, of course, more superb views out to sea.

The terrace restaurant and pool area are the focal point of the hotel. Guests are requested to book at breakfast for the special dinner that is prepared each evening with the freshest of ingredients.

Steps lead down from the terrace restaurant past terraced gardens to the private Beach Club. Here guests can relax by the water's edge enjoying the wonderful views. The active are well catered for with the complimentary water sports and will enjoy the challenge of paddling around the island, or swimming – which is a little harder!

At the tip of the island, a ten-minute walk from Ece, is the simple sandy Sunset Beach. Here, the Sunset Café provides the perfect vantage point from which to watch the sun dip below the horizon over a glass of wine and a table full of mezes.

Complimentary Water Sports

The waterfront setting makes Ece ideal for those who enjoy water sports. That said, the island location does mean that winds can be variable and guests should be aware that conditions are not always conducive to water sport activity.

A small selection of water sports is provided on an entirely complimentary basis. These 'toys' are intended to provide some limited entertainment and certainly do not constitute an activity-style water sport school. Instruction is not provided, however it can be arranged if required (payable locally).

The following equipment is available:

1 x Laser sailing dinghy
2 x Windsurfers
2 x 2-seat sea kayaks
2 x 1-seat canoes
Snorkelling equipment and fishing lines

Scuba diving, waterskiing, kite surfing and a wider selection of water sports, together with specific courses, can be arranged in the vicinity – for which payment is required locally. Additionally a 10HP dinghy is available for guests with a suitable licence to hire, payable locally.
